

DYSPEPSIA

Is a dangerous as well as distressing complaint. If neglected, it tends, by impairing nutrition, and depressing the tone of the system, to prepare the way for Rapid Decline.

Quickly and completely cures Dyspepsia, indigestion, flatulency, biliousness, constipation, etc. It enriches and purifies the blood, stimulates the appetite, and aids the assimilation of food. Rev. J. H. Rogers, the honored pastor of the First Methodist Church, Baltimore, Md., says: "I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People for several years, and I take great pleasure in recommending it highly. Also consider it a splendid tonic and invigorant, and very strengthening." Hon. Joseph C. Stone, Judge of Circuit Court, Chicago, Ill., says: "I bear most cheerful testimony to the efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. CONGRESSMAN MOFFATT.

DEATH OF ONE OF MICHIGAN'S REPRESENTATIVES.

Both Houses of the National Legislature at Washington Adjourned Out of Respect to the Dead Statesman's Memory. Various Other Washington News.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—Representative Seth C. Moffatt, of Michigan died this morning at 7 o'clock at the Providence hospital. The cause of death was blood poisoning, resulting from a carbuncle on the face.

The desk of Mr. Moffatt in the house of congress was covered with flowers, and the chaplain referred to the sad event in the prayer.

Mr. Burrows, of Michigan, feelingly announced the death of Seth C. Moffatt and offered a set of resolutions which were adopted, expressing the regret with which the house learned of Mr. Moffatt's death and providing for a joint committee of seven representatives and three senators to escort the remains to the place of burial. The house at 1:15, as a mark of respect, adjourned until January 4, 1888.

The Senate.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—In the senate today the morning business was very unimportant. Mr. Voorhees introduced a bill to extend the laws of the United States to "no man's land."

Mr. Dolph introduced a bill providing for damages by Indian depredations. Referred to committee on Indian affairs. Mr. Allison asked a correction of the record to remove the intimation, that he questions the authority of the treasurer to invest the surplus in the purchase of bonds. He believed this authority to be unquestionable and never to have been doubted outside of the president's message. Mr. Dolph took the floor in support of a constitutional amendment to authorize Federal marriage, divorce and anti-polygamy laws.

At the close of Mr. Dolph's remarks the subject was laid on the table, and senate bill authorizing two land offices in Colorado was taken up and passed; also senate bill removing the political disabilities of A. C. Myers.

Mr. Butler presented a gavel made of 350 pieces of wood, possessing historic interest and given by a veteran of the Mexican war, now residing in Charleston, S. C. The gavel was referred to the committee on rules. The chair announced the appointment of Senators Butler, Morgan, Dawes, Cameron and Teller, as a committee to investigate the condition of the civilized Indian tribes.

On motion of Mr. Allison the senate at 1:15 went into secret session, and at 2 p. m., after confirming a number of unimportant nominations, the doors were reopened, and as a mark of respect to the late Representative Moffatt, of Michigan, the senate adjourned until January 4, 1888.

The Moffatt Committee.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The following committee has been selected by the two houses of congress to accompany the remains of Representative Moffatt, who died this morning, to their resting place in Michigan: Senators Palmer, Teller and Jones, of Arkansas; Representatives Cushman, Brewer, Fisher, Ford, of Michigan; Laman, of Iowa; Wade, of Missouri; and Shively, of Indiana. Their departure has not yet been fixed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 23.—The secretary of the treasury has issued an order that all of the custom houses throughout the country, be closed on the 36th of December and the 2d of January.

DANIEL MANNING DYING.

The Ex-Secretary of the Treasury Lying at Death's Door.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 23.—Ex-Secretary Manning at 11:30 last night became unconscious, and it was considered doubtful whether he would live until morning. His physicians say his recovery is absolutely impossible. He is dying of Bright's disease of the kidneys. At 2:15 in the afternoon Mr. Manning was still living but unconscious.

Daniel Manning is one of the very few great public men who have held both a public office. His native place is Albany, N. Y. In 1857, when twenty-six years old, he became connected with the management of the Albany Argus, and up to the present time has had the management thereof. He became a director of the National Bank of Albany in 1863, and was president of it twenty-two years later. In 1878 he was chairman of the New York state Democratic committee, and in 1884 made his entry upon public life as secretary of the treasury under Cleveland. He was an able financier, but was compelled to resign on account of his ill health. He was also a terse, vigorous newspaper man.

Dr. Henry Hun, physician of Mr. Manning, left the house at 4 o'clock p. m., and to a United Press reporter said: "Mr. Manning is resting easier. He will die, but from present indications he may live until to-morrow."

Imported Miners.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Collector Magone received this morning a telegram from Secretary Fairchild at Washington, requesting him to look out for 2,000 Belgian miners who are now on their way to this country, to take the place of the miners now on a strike in the Lehigh Valley region. In accordance with the telegram Mr. Magone has issued instructions to the Castle Garden authorities, to exercise vigilance in the case of any Belgians arriving, as if they are imported under contract, they will be sent back.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 23.—The gasometer or reservoir tank that holds the entire supply of gas for Pittsburg, exploded yesterday afternoon, wrecking everything and causing a loss of $15,000. No one was hurt, but the city will be in darkness throughout the holidays.

MORE DISASTROUS THAN REPORTED.

Effects of the Disastrous Naphtha Explosion at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 21.—One of the most singular calamities on record happened here yesterday afternoon. A series of explosions took place in various parts of the city, resulting in the loss of four lives and the burning of several buildings. The explanation of the terrible occurrences was found as follows:

"Several years ago," it was stated at the Municipal Gas company's office, "the Vacuum Oil company ran a pipe from its works to those of the Municipal Gas company, in order to supply it with naphtha. This pipe line runs along the bed of the Genesee Valley canal, three or four feet under ground. At Atkinson street the contractors were blasting carefully, undoubtedly, and in this way the pipe was broken. The naphtha ran down into the outlet sewer through Canal street into Platt, and from there into Mill street, which has caused this trouble. I presume 12,000 or 15,000 gallons of naphtha have gone into the sewers. We were informed that our gas was escaping on Mill street. We sent a man down there to turned off, and he reported that he smelled fresh naphtha. This was the first I had heard of the escape. This, thing teaches that contractors should be more careful in blasting under pipes. The supply of naphtha was cut off immediately by the Vacuum Oil company, and the gas was at once cut off from our pipes."

Some almost miraculous escapes are reported.

The four persons killed are: Frederick Wilson, Edward A. Webster, Abram Rogers and John Lee. The last named is missing, and, it is supposed, was burned to death in the Clinton mill. Rogers was a millwright and was injured by falling walls. He was taken home and died last night. Young Wilson was a part owner in the Shawmut mills, and was killed by a flying stone. Edward A. Webster was looking at a man-hole from which the explosions were coming when the explosion in the Jefferson mill happened, burying him in the falling wall. A score or more were wounded.

The losses, as far as ascertained, on the burned flour mills, are as follows: J. A. Hinds, Washington mills, loss $30,000; insurance $22,000; Davis & Sons, Shawmut mill, loss $30,000; insurance $20,000; Clinton or Pool mill, loss $50,000; insurance not known; Wells & Company, tool makers, loss $1,000; insurance $400; Kingsbury cracker factory, loss $7,500 no insurance.

The destruction of the mills, it is feared, is but a small item, comparatively, as the entire sewerage system of the city, it is believed, has been affected and that section of it connected with the Municipal Gas company and the Vacuum Oil company's works almost completely destroyed.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.

Two People Mortally Wounded Out of a Family of Five.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 23.—On the Rapid Run pike, midway between Warsaw and Delhi, there stood yesterday a neat frame cottage, occupied by Edward Johnson, a colored man, his wife and three children—two daughters and a son. To-day where the cottage stood is a mass of ruins and blackened timbers, from which horrified neighbors this morning removed what was at first supposed to be the corpses of the five members of the family. The bleeding bodies were lifted from the debris and taken to the nearest farmhouse and doctors summoned.

A hasty examination revealed that none of the five were killed. The two girls, one thirteen and the other four, were frightfully torn and blood was flowing from a dozen wounds. There was no hope for them. The lower limbs of both were broken and in the skull of each was a gaping hole from which the brains oozed. The wife was a mass of burns and bruises, but will recover. The son was also terribly burned, and his body was covered with contusions, but none are of a fatal character. Edward Johnson himself was shockingly torn, and there is little hope of his recovery.

To Drs. Davis, of Delhi, and Terrell, of the same city, Johnson stated that he arose about 5 this morning, built a fire and put a number of frozen dynamite cartridges near the blaze to thaw out preparatory to blasting in a quarry near by. In the room where the dangerous stuff was gathering its terrible energies for an explosion were sleeping Johnson and three children. In the adjoining room slept the wife. Johnson after getting the fire started, went in to call his wife. Scarcely had he left the kitchen when the dynamite exploded, tearing the house to pieces.

The noise of the explosion was heard three miles away, and attracted even at that early hour an excited crowd of neighbors, who extinguished the flames, which speedily threatened to consume the work begun by the dynamite. "The scene reminded me of pictures I have seen of volcanic eruptions," said Dr. Davis.

Gas Explosion.

JERSEY CITY, Dec. 23.—An explosion occurred at 12:30 o'clock to-day in the New Jersey Gas Light company, blowing out the front of the building. A lad named Bryan, who happened to pass the place, was hurled in the debris, and when dug out was nearly dead. His injuries will likely prove fatal. A clerk named MacFoln was seriously injured, and another employe was knocked senseless. After the explosion the buildings caught fire, but damage to the extent of $500 only was done.

Mrs. Robinson Anxious to Be Tried.

BOSTON, Dec. 23.—Counsel for Mrs. Sarah J. Robinson, the alleged poisoner, have consulted with the attorney general, and desire that the trial of Mrs. Robinson on a charge of causing the death of her brother-in-law, Prince Arthur Freeman, by poison, be tried at once. The attorney general is in favor of next April, and Chief Justice Morton will be consulted. There will probably be no further trial on the indictment upon which the recent trial was had.

Waverly, Iowa, Dec. 23.—W. S. Kingsley, county attorney, was shot and instantly killed in his office, about 6 o'clock yesterday evening, by E. Billing, another attorney, who was shot in the back, but received only a slight wound, the ball having struck a ring in his suspenders, which evidently saved his life. Mr. Billing is now under arrest, and the details of the tragedy will probably be brought out at the coroner's inquest.

BANISHED FROM RUSSIA.

EVERY MEMBER OF THE ORLEANS FAMILY TO LEAVE RUSSIA.

The Examination Into the Forged Letters Affair Proves a Startling Revelation to the Court—Effect of Carnot's Election. Other Foreign News Notes.

LONDON, Dec. 23.—The czar is credited with a determination to exclude from Russia upon the slightest future pretense all members of the Orleans family, their dependents and supporters. Investigation into the matter of the forged letters proved some of his own household to be so intimately connected with that affair that he was forced to order a cessation of further inquiry; but this naturally doubled his indignation against the investigators of the plot which threw all Europe into a tumult for a week. Every year appears to weaken the chances of the Monarchists ever gaining a foothold in France.

Of the former pretenders the Comte de Chambard was, as a man, a model of probity and virtue. Unaffectedly religious, he was revered by the Catholic element and respected by those indifferent to the church. Now that the succession has fallen to the Orleansists, and the throne seems further off than ever, the deterioration in Morale has become marked, and the opinion is being gradually confirmed that they are falling off, as did the Stuarts, of England, and like that unfortunate race are doomed to ignominious extinction. At the downfall of M. Grevy, their hopes rose somewhat, the expectation that Jules Ferry would replace him, having some foundation, but the election of Carnot put a quietus to their aspirations in this direction, the intense dislike toward M. Ferry developed during and after the presidential contest, seeming to settle his chances in the most decided manner.

The leaders of the Orleanist party agree that their campaign has retrograded ten years at least by the check given to them in the choice of Carnot. The approaching general elections, which cannot be much longer delayed, will test the strength of the Monarchists in a manner not to be mistaken, and if there is a serious diminution in the number of seats held by the representatives of their cause, sanguine indeed must be the believers in their ultimate success. The falling fortunes of the family are by no means aided by the scandals related of the family of the Duc De Chartres, whose son was recently banished by his father to Constantinople to escape the wiles of a married woman bearing a noble name, whose nobility did not render her too scrupulous to bleed the young man of an enormous sum of money. The harpy in question followed the exile to the east, and the whole affair is the gossip and the laughing stock of the clubs of Paris. Losing the respect of the gravest portion of the community, and becoming ridiculous in the eyes of the frivolous and fashionable, their prospect of ever wielding the coveted sceptre of France becomes more and more visionary every day.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR JERE DUNN.

A Plot to Kill Jimmy Elliott's Slayer That Did Not Work.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Although years have gone by since Jere Dunn shot and killed Jimmy Elliott, of Brooklyn, the friends of the dead thief still bear Dunn a grudge for it, and threaten to square accounts with him. A story came out to-day about a recent plot to "do" Jere at the Dempsey-Regan fight, at which Dunn was to second Dempsey.

On the final night when the pugilists were to fight and didn't, fourteen Brooklyn toughs, friends of Regan and haters of Dempsey, hired the tug R. J. Garrett, for which they paid $5 each. "Red" Leary and Kid McManus were said to be of the number. They got to the tug some time before the captain arrived, and while waiting his arrival they talked, and from scraps of their conversation overheard by the engineer he realized that a plot was on to murder Jere Dunn, who had already gone to the scene of the fight. He was further convinced when he found that each man was fixed with either a "black jack" or a "gun." The engineer quietly went down into his engine room, and after drawing the fire from under the boilers, skipped uptown. The captain arrived five minutes later, but as he had neither engineer nor fire the trip had to be abandoned. To this Jere Dunn owes his life.

Indiana Failures.

PERU, Ind., Dec. 23.—A. J. Ross, doing a large foundry business in this city, made an assignment to-day to G. T. Herrick, of Wabash. Liabilities, $12,000; assets, $2,000. The failure was due to a note given by Mr. Ross for $1,850 to the First National bank of Wabash, the note being indorsed by J. W. Whisler. The note fell due, when Mr. Whisler refused to again indorse; hence the failure. McNutt Brothers, doing a large restaurant business here, closed their doors to-day, being unable to pay the bills falling due to outside parties.

THE COAL FAMINE.

A Number of People Already Frozen to Death in Kansas.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—A Topeka, Kan., special to the News says: A very serious coal famine and the failure of the crops in western Kansas left the people of that state totally unprepared for the furious blizzard which has been raging there. Reports of suffering and distress have been received from nine counties and it is known that seven persons have been frozen to death. A farmer named L. C. Clark, who lived three miles from Golden, in Grant county, left his family at home Monday to go to Hartland, the nearest railroad point, for the purpose of getting coal, being entirely without fuel. He left Hartland late Monday evening with his coal, and the next morning was found about six miles from home lying by the side of his horses frozen stiff. The animals were also frozen and all of the bodies were partially covered by snow. Clark's wife and three children had in the meantime nearly perished, and only saved themselves from death by leaving their shell of a house and taking refuge in a cave.

Two deaths are reported from Greeley county, near the Colorado line. A brother and sister named Halzapfel, who lived in an unsettled portion of the county, found themselves without fuel Sunday evening, nearly froze during the night. Early Monday morning the young man went to the town of Horace, seven miles distant, and succeeded in getting 300 pounds of coal. When he returned home he found his sister in bed so nearly dead that it was impossible to revive her. The other death reported from Greeley is that of a farmer, sixty years old, whose name could not be learned. He lived alone, and was not only without fuel but without food.

A widow named Mrs. Reilly and her two little children, perished in the storm of Monday night near Dighton, in Lane county. They were without fuel and the storm came so suddenly upon them that they were unable to get it.

There were also reports of great suffering in Clark county. A party of four were traveling overland, and being ten miles from home and several miles from any house, determined to reach home that night in spite of the storm. The horses gave out and the family was obliged to walk to the nearest house, miles distant. A two-year-old child froze to death in its father's arms before shelter was reached. The others reached the house badly frozen. The people of the frontier counties are obliged to haul their coal from the nearest railroad station, sometimes a distance of 100 miles. Sometimes there is such a crowd waiting for coal that some to wait several days.

THOSE TICKETS FRAUDS.

They May Not Pan Out As Serious As First Reported.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 23.—The work of audit the books of the passenger department of the Lake Erie goes steadily forward, and it is expected will be completed by the end of the week. The reported resignation of General Passenger Agent Smith was denied by other officials that he would do so if he thought there was any intention to force him out. Mr. Smith said:

"A man thrown into the position I am in, which is a very delicate one, wouldn't think of resigning until after the investigation had been concluded." General Superintendent Hallbrook said: "There is no truth whatever in the published statement this morning that he had employed private detectives to work up evidence against our employes. We have employed nobody but regular accountants to examine the books, and there is no talk whatever among the officials of the company about criminal prosecutions. None of our employes have been discharged, nor is it probably any will be. We haven't yet come to anything that would make me think fraud was perpetrated."

White Caps Capture a Newspaper.

BRAZIL, Ind., Dec. 23.—The failure of the state authorities to prosecute the White Caps, or Night-riders, of Harrison and adjoining counties, is mainly responsible for the appearance of the disorder in various parts of the state. It seems the spirit is abroad at Clay City, in the south end of the county, where the self-appointed avengers of the law and correctors of delinquent citizens seem to have captured the local paper. Some time since a certain man was warned through the paper to desist paying more attention to a female of the village than to his wife and children. The warning, doubtless, had its effect, as nothing more has been heard of the affair. The last issue of the paper warns one Leo Hamuud against sponging off his aged mother-in-law's pittance of a pension and to go to work like other men and earn an honest living. The warning is signed "Maui Citizens." Lee will doubtless do well to heed the warning.

Dr. McGlynn's Christmas Gift.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—Rev. Dr. McGlynn received to-day a Christmas present from his old parishioners of St. Stephen's in the shape of a purse that was much larger than the yearly income he used to draw while pastor of the church. The parishioners have been raising the purse during the past month and the subscriptions are reported to have reached $1,500. The parishioners will meet to-morrow evening in their hall in East Twenty-seventh street to hear whether or not Dr. McGlynn accepts the money. It is thought that he will. The parishioners are confident that Dr. McGlynn will be restored to the pastorate.

After Oil Dealers.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Dec. 23.—Great excitement was caused here to-day among our grocerymen and coal oil dealers over the discovery that a car load of unsuspected oil had been shipped in here a few days ago and sold to consumers. An officer is looking the matter up, and will make it warm for the firm that shipped it and also the retail dealer. The Oil City company, with headquarters at Springfield, is the company held accountable.

Blaze in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 23.—Fire yesterday morning at about 1 o'clock damaged J. L. Fleishman's millinery goods store and C. Yeager's toy store on South street, this city, about $150,000 worth; fully covered by insurance.

A Dangerous Amusement.

The city authorities ought to see that no more "Roman candle battles" are fought on the streets of Maysville. The shooting of such fire works in the manner intended by their maker is an innocent amusement, but when fired at individuals, as is too often done here in town, the sport becomes too dangerous to be allowed.

Squire Leslie Mannen had one of his eyes shot out by a Roman candle at Germantown last Christmas, and his misfortune is an evidence of the dangerous character of the sport. The city may save itself a big law suit by taking the proper action in the matter.

Let the boys shoot all the Roman candles they wish to, but let them shoot them as they were intended to be shot.

The Senate has confirmed the appointment of the following Kentucky postmasters: D. K. Weis, Ashland; W. H. Wilkerson, Mt. Sterling; J. B. Willis, Richmond; Susan K. Burch, Georgetown; J. E. Glet, Carrollton; W. S. McChesney, Lexington; H. C. Metcalfe, Carlisle.

The Kentucky Legislature will convene a week from to-day. Senator Beck's successor will be chosen during the session. The Senator has left Washington and will be on the scene at the opening of the "battle." However, he is not very uneasy just at this time, as it looks like a walk-over for him.

The "protected" coal monopolists of the Lehigh, Pa., region were reported on the point of importing 2,000 Belgian laborers to take the place of striking miners, but the Government has stepped in and served notice that this can not be done, under the present administration at least. What will become of those poor monopolists now?

The extension of the Chattahoochee Road from Richardson to Whitehouse, in Eastern Kentucky, (ten miles), has been completed and is now in operation. Large quantities of canal coal are being shipped East and to Chicago. Taking the present earnings of the extension as a basis, this piece of road will earn enough to pay 6 per cent. on $300,000. The earnings of the Chattahoochee will, after this year, be large enough to pay the interest on the company's bonds.

The following editorial from the Covington Commonwealth voices a common feeling:

A talk with whisky men has developed the fact that the Presidential message is looked upon with favor. Mr. Duckworth says to remove the tax and throw open the trade would crowd into it a class of irresponsible people who would manufacture the vilest kind of stuff; and it is the firms engaged in the business are responsible, competitive, and take pride in manufacturing the choicest brands. He thinks, however, that the tax should not be exacted before the article is sold.

The government makes a pretty good showing on internal revenue receipts for first five months of the present fiscal year. The collections amounted to $51,800,549, being an increase of $3,854,755 as compared with the corresponding period last year. There was an increase of $1,979,551 in receipts from spirits, of $1,100,170, on tobacco, of $775,412 on fermented liquors, of $67,537 on oleomargarine. Receipts for November last were $718,973, more than those for the same month of last year.

Pithy Points From Washington.

With all due respect for the opinion of a "prominent attorney," we submit that the clog of saloons is a measure very much more to be desired than the closing of bucket-shops.

We will allow that the bucket-shop is an institution not very greatly to be admired, yet one to be held vastly more in esteem than the rum shop.

The bucket-shop only takes away money from its votaries, while the whisky-shop takes away money, character, health, strength and life itself.

The bucket-shop will only bring its victim to poverty, while the rum-shop not only brings a man to poverty but to worthlessness, imbecility and pauperism.

While the tendency of the bucket-shop is in the direction of gambling, the sure lead of the rum-shop is in the way of crime, disorder, anarchy and the gallows.

While proposing to do away with the minor evil, let us not lose sight of the greater—the monstrous iniquity licensed by the State to override law and morality, and to manufacture her citizens into paupers, criminals and murderers.

$500 Reward.

The former proprietor of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, for years made a standing, public offer in all American newspapers of $500 reward for a case of catarrh that he could not cure. The present proprietors have renewed this offer. All the druggists sell this remedy, together with the "Douché," and all other applicants advised to be used in connection with it. No catarrh patient is longer able to say "I cannot be cured." You get $500 in case of failure.

DEATH OF ROBERT BEDFORD.

A Prominent Citizen of Mayslick Precinct Passes Away After An Illness of Only a Few Days.

Robert Bedford died yesterday morning at one o'clock at the family residence near Mayslick. He had been ill but a few days. On the Monday before he ate a hearty dinner and seemed in his usual health. He passed from the dining-room out on the porch where his wife found him shortly afterwards trying to return to his room. He was suffering very greatly and remarked that he "believed his time had come." He was assisted to his room, and soon rallied somewhat. The next morning he grew worse. Dr. Wheatley was summoned, but Mr. Bedford's condition became so alarming on Wednesday that Dr. Pickett, of this city, was called in consultation. The physicians saw that the attack was fatal, and could do but little to check the disease. Death resulted as first stated. It is attributed to congestion of the heart and lungs. Mr. Bedford had had previous trouble from his heart, being of very fleshy and powerful build.

The deceased was a native of Bonbrun County, but had spent most of his life in Mason. He was sixty-two years of age, and belonged to one of the prominent and wealthy families of the Blue Grass region. His wife, who was a Miss Rogers, survives him. Their marriage was not blessed with any children. He leaves two adopted daughters, however, Miss Nettie Berry and Mrs. Dr. Clarke, the latter of Vanceburg. Mr. Bedford was a good citizen and was very highly esteemed by his friends and acquaintances. He was a man of considerable wealth, owning at his death, in addition to other property, the home place near Mayslick of about 240 acres, about 400 acres of rich bottom land in Lewis County, a fine house and lot in Chester and an interest in the LaRue House property at Blue Licks. It is stated that his interest in this last piece of property will now revert to the State as it was entailed to him and his children.

The funeral took place this morning at half-past ten o'clock in the Presbyterian Church at Mayslick.

Beware of Feather Men.

George Bingeman, alias George Brown, has been arrested at Georgetown, O., and will be brought over to Bracken County to answer a charge of swindling several people out of their feather beds. Brown and a partner landed at Augusta about the 25th of October. They had a covered wagon and a team of nice bay horses. The next morning, says the Augusta Republican, they started out the Brooksville pike. The first place they stopped was at Henry Alka's. They represented that they followed the business of cleaning feathers and had their machine in Augusta, and that Geo. L. Bradford and other county officials, acquainted with them, had written for him—Geo. Brown—to come there and set up their machine, and that they would charge him (Alka) nothing, as his bed would be an advertisement for them and that they would return it Friday, this being Wednesday. The next stop was at Aunt Susan Rheinhardt's—an old widow lady. There they made the same representations, and took the only feather-bed she had, and now the old lady is sleeping on straw. The couple then continued their journey to Covington, taking the route by way of Brooksville and Berlin. When they reached Covington they had fifteen beds, which they sold and then shipped out. One of them is now in custody. Both richly deserve a term in the penitentiary.

The river is about on a stand and the packets are making good time for the stage of water.

The schools all close to-day for the holidays—until January 2nd, 1888,—and the children are happy, while many parents are probably sorry.

CONTRACTORS will complete the cattle-pens in a few days at Mr. James H. Rogers new distillery. The pens will accommodate about one hundred and twenty five head.

The entertainment at the First Presbyterian Church this evening, at 7 o'clock promptly, will be for all the members of the congregation as well as the pupils of the Sunday school.

The members of the M. E. Church, South, and friends of the poor will please send their contributions of money, clothing, provisions and fuel to the church tomorrow (Saturday).

MISS JENNIE CARPENTER, who was married a few days ago by 'Squire Beasley at Aberdeen to Lee Lawrence, is only twelve years old. The groom is fourteen. The couple live near Sherburne.

Don't buy your Christmas presents until you see Ballenger's new stock of bisques, bronzes and the very latest and noblest designs in jewelry. Remember you get a ticket on $500 diamond earrings with every dollar's worth bought. dtf

KRIS KRINGLE will come out of his "snow house," at the M. E. Church, South, to-night, and distribute presents to the pupils of the Sunday school. There will be good music, a few tableaux and the entertainment promises to be an enjoyable one.

MISS MINNIE A. BERTRAM, of this city, was married yesterday to Mr. Edward A. Kelley, of Louisville. The wedding took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bertram, on Grant street, Rev. Russell Cecil officiating. The groom is a railroad employee.

LOUIS ZECH & CO., of the popular Red Corner Clothing House, are again to the front with a big "ad," letting the public know that their winter clothing is being closed out at prices unheard of before. They have been doing a big business, and their sales this year are larger by many thousand dollars than for the year 1886.

MISS NORA BRATTON, of Nepton, has been visiting in this city for several days. Yesterday she was joined by her lover, Moses McCord, and the two hid themselves across to Aberdeen where they were married by 'Squire Beasley. They were guests at Heiser's European Hotel last night, and returned home to-day. Charles J. Scott, a friend of the groom, accompanied them to Aberdeen.

Deserves a Coat of Tar and Feather.

Levi Thomas, a worthless negro character, was before Mayor Pearce Wednesday, for a nameless offense. The act was committed Sunday afternoon in front of Central Presbyterian Church. The little girls were much frightened at the brute's actions and made their escape. Mayor Pearce gave him the full penalty—fine and costs amounting to $38—saying that he regretted the law would not allow him to make it heavier. Thomas is a married man, and has been guilty of his infamous practices on former occasions. He deserves a coat of tar and feathers.

DISASTERS ON THE TRACK

A RAILROAD COLLISION NEAR CINCINNATI, OHIO.

Two Trains on the Cincinnati, Lebanon & Northern Narrow Gauge Run Together—None Killed but Several Seriously Injured—Accident in Chicago.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 23.—A terrible collision took place at 6:30 a. m. on the Cincinnati, Lebanon & Northern narrow gauge railroad, three miles and a half north of this city, at the famous Bloody Run trestle, near Idlewild Station. The Ohio & Northwestern passenger train No. 21, engine No. 7, leaving the city at 6:30 a. m., was ten minutes late, and running on the time of the Montgomery accommodation, No. 4, engine No. 2, due in this city at 7:05 a. m. The two trains collided a few feet east of the trestle work, but had slackened up before the accident, and neither left the track. The engineers and firemen of the two trains suffered most by the collision, although two or three passengers received a severe shaking up.

George Collins, engineer of the Montgomery accommodation, had his ankle sprained and was slightly bruised. He lives at Montgomery.

Thomas Ballard, fireman of the same train, escaped serious injury by jumping when he saw a collision was inevitable.

George Glasgow, engineer of the Ohio & Northwestern train, suffered a broken leg and a sprained wrist, besides other injuries. He was taken to his home, 319 Broadway.

Charles Barber, fireman of the same train, had his right arm and leg broken, and was removed to Bette street hospital in a patrol wagon.

Among the passengers hurt were: W. Kruse, of Montgomery, nose skinned. Ed Sichey, foot smashed. Mrs. Ringgold, injured in the back. Mrs. Proctor, of Norwood, injured about the back.

William Lloyd, of Norwood, bruised about the head.

Several passengers, whose names are unknown, were more or less bruised. Many of the passengers took the Avondale street cars for the city, and the others waited until a special train was run out from the city. The passengers on the 6:15 a. m. Lebanon accommodation, were transferred to the special train, as also were the passengers on the Ohio & Northwestern train.

The engine and cab of the O. & N. W. train were damaged to the extent of about $800. The smokestack and headlight of the O. & N. W. train were damaged to the extent of perhaps $300. The cars were not injured by the collision. The wreck was cleared so that regular trains were running by noon. There is some trouble between the management of the two roads as to the running of the O. & N. W. trains over the other's track, and there has been talk since November 8 of the O. & N. W. trains using another route. It is claimed that the Montgomery accommodation should have waited for the other train at Idlewild, but it is denied by the officials of the road that there were any orders issued to that effect. There is no doubt that the O. & N. W. train was ten minutes late and running on the time of the other train.

Fortunately the engineers of the two trains saw the danger in time to reverse their engines and slacken the speed of their trains, or a disaster involving many lives must have resulted. The cars of the O. & N. W. train would have been forced over Bloody Run trestle with a fearful loss of life. Engineer Collins was injured in an accident on the same road about six months ago.

Miraculous Escape.

CHICAGO, Dec. 23.—While a crowd of fully two hundred people were boarding an Illinois Central suburban train at Vanburn street station last evening, a Baltimore & Ohio train, without any warning, dashed into them. Miss Lottie Lunderville, aged twenty years, was thrown fifteen or twenty feet, and it is thought fatally injured. No one else was injured, though there were many narrow escapes. The engineers, who speedily stopped the train, narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of the angry crowd, and was only reached by the police, who took him in charge.

Wreck in a Blizzard.

ROCK RAPIDS, Iowa, Dec. 23.—A train on the Cherokee and Dakota branch of the Illinois Central came into collision yesterday with a work train, which had on board about two hundred track laborers. A blizzard prevailed at the time, which prevented the engineers from discovering the danger until they were within twenty yards of each other. The engineers and firemen of both trains were badly injured. Fireman George Davis, of Cherokee, has since died. Many of the laborers were slightly injured.

SEVENTY VESSELS WRECKED.

Heavy Damage to Property and Loss of Life in the West Indies.

NEW YORK, Dec. 23.—The steamer Samana has arrived from Cape Hayti, and reports that a heavy northwester swept over the West Indies on the 6th, 7th and 8th instants, causing much damage. In all, some seventy vessels were wrecked. A coasting schooner, name unknown, capsized while making Cape Haitian, and thirteen of her crew of fifteen were drowned.

The British steamer Viola was caught in the gale and eight of her crew washed overboard and drowned. Two others were washed overboard, but were swept back on board the vessel by another wave. The vessel was badly damaged. The British man-of-war Wrangler arrived at Turks Island on the 7th inst. badly damaged by the storm. The French vessel Chasseur arrived at Cape Haitian on the 8th with her main and mizen masts gone. In the harbor of Monte Christo a dozen vessels were driven ashore.

Wants the Bonds.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 23.—Albert Netter & Company applied for a mandamus in the common pleas court to compel Auditor Fred Raine, of Hamilton county, to surrender a quantity of Longview asylum improvement bonds. The bonds were advertised for sale and the Netters' offer of $53,855.55 was accepted. When Mr. Netter tendered the money to the auditor and asked for the bonds, he was informed that his company's offer was rejected.

Carney is Home Sick.

BOSTON, Dec. 23.—Jem Carney and his trailer sailed for England on the Pavonia. Home sickness is given as the reason for Carney's sudden departure.

OUR NEIGHBORS.

TUCKAHOE.

In fabled lore of Aesop's making, We read of an ass in lion's drapery, Who put to flight all the animal kind Whom nature endowed with feeble mind.

Feeling a fox cross over his way, An effort to roar wound up in a bay, And leynard discerned in the animal's tone The nature of him the beast would disown.

We take no fright, nor run away, For our reader's announcement, we've come to stay, No braying-lion of Germantown, Content yourself; lie down; lie down.

Mr. William Hill has returned to Tuckahoe from a protracted visit to relatives in Indiana. He still possesses all of the hilarity and jocularity of his younger self. As there as he is, the devotion he formerly manifested for the goddess of flowers is still noted.

Dr. Charles Holton, from Richmond, Ky., who has been spending some ten days or more with his father, W. L. Holton, en-during an attack of measles, was glad to write, is convalescent, and will return in a few days to his long suffering patients.

Evidences of Christmas in this community are stocking-up, and one is reminded of the lines from the famous poem of Clement O. Moore:

"The stockings were hung by the chimney with care, In hopes that St. Nicholas soon would be there."

The cold wave submerging our vicinity last now is disturbing the long high standing of our weather indicators.

The mercury has fallen and the goose bone is down, How are they, my neighbor, at Germantown? L. X. ANDRE.

Brown's Little Joke.

"Why, Brown how short your coat is," said Jones one day to his friend Brown, who wittily replied: "Yes; but it will be long enough before I will get another." Some men spend so much for medicine that neither heal nor help them, that new clothes is with them like angels' visits—few and far between. Internal fevers, weakness of the lungs, shortness of the breath and lingering coughs, soon yield to the magic influence of that royal remedy, Dr. R. V. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery."
